

CATHERINE BORG
Illuminating Exchange, 2008
 Night Lights event. Scottsdale, Arizona
 Commissioned by Scottsdale Public Art

Attendees-cum-participants were encouraged to leave something (or make something on the spot) in exchange for small wearable LED lights. Objects left to replace the lights remained on display for the duration of the evening, simultaneously creating an accumulation of meaning at the site and a mobile remnant of the exchange as participants moved through the event and beyond.

All photos by Catherine Borg except top center image by Patrick Asuncion.

